

Product Manager

About Carbonplace

An exciting opportunity to rapidly scale and shape a start-up committed to driving climate action. Carbonplace is a global carbon credit transaction network that will enable the simple, secure, and transparent transfer of certified carbon credits. Developed by a group of financial institutions, Carbonplace's unique blockchain-enabled distributed ledger technology will enable the trust, transparency, and accessibility required to open the voluntary carbon market to the world and accelerate global climate action. In joining this new & unique venture, you will engage with teams that have a startup mindset without the worry of associated start up risks. You will be working with a consortium of financial institutions with a core objective of executing MVP and Series A funding.

About This Role:

Carbonplace are seeking a highly driven and articulate Product Manager to join the team. We are looking for an individual who has a strong understanding of carbon markets and platform technology, with the ability to progress the technical build as we scale-up. As a Product Manager, you will need to understand Carbonplace's unique proposition and ensure a clear vision for how the platform will evolve to meet the requirements of our clients and the market as they evolve. You will bring the company's strategic vision to life while advocating for value delivered to our clients. This is a hands-on role with a high level of autonomy to create a vision and roadmap for success.

Responsibilities:

- We're looking for an innovative strategic thinker who can analyse research insights, customer and market needs, and translate this into a product development roadmap
- Clearly define product-market fit & value propositions and communicate these effectively to internal & external stakeholders
- Partner with our tech teams to articulate product evolution, write detailed product requirements, and ensure end-to-end execution
- Interface with external stakeholders to discuss the product and platform roadmap, to identify partnerships and collaborations with other organisations in the landscape.

Location and Commitments:

We offer hybrid working, with a minimum of 2-3 days a week in the City of London office.

Candidate Requirements:

- 3+ Years Product Manager experience, ideally within a FinTech or financial services company
- Enthusiastic about the carbon market and platform solutions, able to adapt to an ever-changing landscape, and manage changing priorities.
- You take an entrepreneurial and collaborative approach and have excellent interpersonal and communication skills.
- You have demonstrated execution on platform initiatives,
- You have the ability to manage multiple priorities successfully and are able to make effective/informed decisions under pressure.
- Candidate must demonstrate incredible attention to detail.

- Holistic approach to platform development, understanding how partner technologies may benefit the platform and the product offering
- You embrace and advocate change by adapting & evolving your thinking to deliver your best.

Important information:

- A degree or equivalent professional qualifications are preferred, although not required.
- We are hoping for someone who can join Carbonplace promptly, commencing in this role from Q4 2022.

Remuneration & Benefits:

Competitive based on experience.

